

The building is really starting to take shape with the completion of steel installation and progress on enclosing the structure.

The exterior walls of the building is comprised of a combination of masonry façade, metal panels, and glass. The exterior walls that face away from the building will be a masonry façade and the exterior walls that face the inner courtyard will be made up of painted metal panels. The installation of both of these facades is well underway!

May 14, 2015

July 30, 2015